You have the right to:

Request access to your personal data (commonly known as a “data subject access request”). This enables you to receive a copy of the personal data we hold about you and to check that we are lawfully processing it.

Request correction of the personal data that we hold about you. This enables you to have any incomplete or inaccurate data we hold about you corrected, though we may need to verify the accuracy of the new data you provide to us.

Request erasure of your personal data. This enables you to ask us to delete or remove personal data where there is no good reason for us continuing to process it. You also have the right to ask us to delete or remove your personal data where you have successfully exercised your right to object to processing (see below), where we may have processed your information unlawfully or where we are required to erase your personal data to comply with local law. Note, however, that we may not always be able to comply with your request of erasure for specific legal reasons which will be notified to you, if applicable, at the time of your request.

Object to processing of your personal data where we are relying on a legitimate interest (or those of a third party) and there is something about your particular situation which makes you want to object to processing on this ground as you feel it impacts on your fundamental rights and freedoms. You also have the right to object where we are processing your personal data for direct marketing purposes. In some cases, we may demonstrate that we have compelling legitimate grounds to process your information which override your rights and freedoms.

Request restriction of processing of your personal data. We will provide to you, or a third party you have chosen, your personal data in a structured, commonly used, machine-readable format. Note that this right only applies to automated information which you initially provided consent for us to use or where we used the information to perform a contract with you.

Withdraw consent at any time where we are relying on consent to process your personal data. However, this will not affect the lawfulness of any processing carried out before you withdraw your consent. If you withdraw your consent, we may not be able to provide certain products or services to you. We will advise you if this is the case at the time you withdraw your consent.

13. COOKIE POLICY

Effective on May 9, 2018

At Total Media, we believe in being clear and open about how we collect and use data related to you. In the spirit of transparency, this policy provides detailed information about how and when we use cookies. This cookie policy applies to any Total Media's service or product that links to this policy or incorporates it by reference.

Does Total Media use cookies?

Yes. As described in Section 4 of our Privacy Policy, we use cookies and other technologies to ensure everyone who uses Total Media has the best possible experience. Cookies also help us keep your account safe. By continuing to visit or use our services, you are agreeing to the use of cookies and similar technologies for the purposes we describe in this policy.

What is a cookie?

A cookie is a small file placed onto your device that enables Total Media features and functionality. For example, cookies enable us to identify your device, secure your access to Total Media and our sites generally, and even help us know if someone attempts to access your account from a different device. Cookies also enable you to easily share content on Total Media and help us serve relevant ads to you.

When does Total Media place cookies?

We use cookies on our sites (such as totalmediasolutions.com and mediatraderz.com) and landing pages. Any browser visiting these sites will receive cookies from us. We also place cookies in your browser when you visit non-Total Media sites that host our Ads (for example, Total Media's Landing pages) or tags.

What types of cookies does Total Media use?

We use two types: persistent cookies and session cookies. A persistent cookie helps us recognize you as an existing user, so it's easier to return to Total Media or interact with our services without signing in again. After you sign in, a persistent cookie stays in your browser and will be read by Total Media when you return to one of our sites or a partner site that uses our services. Session cookies only last for as long as the session (usually the current visit to a website or a browser session).

What are cookies used for?

Cookies can be used to recognize you when you visit Total Media, remember your preferences, and give you a personalized experience that's in line with your settings. Cookies also make your interactions with Total Media faster and more secure. Additionally, cookies allow us to bring you advertising both on and off the Total Media sites.

Categories of Use	Description
Authentication	If you're signed in to Total Media, cookies help us show you the right information and personalize your experience.
Security	We use cookies to enable and support our security features, and to help us detect malicious activity and violations of our User Agreement.
Preferences, features and services	Cookies can tell us which language you prefer and what your communications preferences are. They can help you fill out forms on Total Media more easily.
Advertising	We may use cookies to show you relevant advertising both on and off the Total Media site. We may also use a cookie to learn whether someone who saw an ad later visited and took an action (e.g. downloaded a white paper or made a purchase) on the advertiser's site. Similarly, our partners may use a cookie to determine whether we've shown an ad and how it performed, or provide us with information about how you interact with ads. We may also work with a partner to show you an ad on or off Total Media, such as after you've visited a partner's site or application.
Performance, Analytics and Research	Cookies help us learn how well our site and plugins perform in different locations. We also use cookies to understand, improve, and research products, features, and services, including when you access Total Media from other websites, applications, or devices such as your work computer or your mobile device.

How are cookies used for advertising purposes?

Cookies and other ad technology such as beacons, pixels, and tags help us serve relevant ads to you more effectively. They also help us provide aggregated auditing, research, and reporting for advertisers, understand and improve our service, and know when content has been shown to you. Note: Because your web browser may request advertisements and beacons directly from third party ad network servers, these networks can view, edit, or set third party cookies, just as if you had requested a web page from their site. Ads served by Total Media may also set third party cookies.

If you are logged in on Total Media website, or another Service that references this Cookie Policy or browsing a third party partner site of Total Media and one of our cookies on your device identifies you, your usage (such as your browsing behavior) and log data (such as your IP address), will be associated by us with your account as noted in Section 4 of our Privacy Policy.

We also use aggregate data from third parties and data from your profile and Total Media activity.

If you are a Total Media member but logged out of your account on a browser, Total Media may still continue to log your interaction with our services on that browser for up to 30 days in order to generate usage analytics for our services, which analytics we may share in aggregate form with our advertising customers.

Unless you clear these cookies from your browser, we may use this information to:

- provide more relevant, interest-based advertising
- provide aggregate reports of ads activity to advertisers and websites hosting the ads
- help website and app owners understand how visitors engage with their sites or apps
- detect and defend against fraud and other risks to protect users and partners
- improve our products

What third-party cookies does Total Media use?

Our cookie table lists some of the third party cookies on our sites. Please note that the names of cookies, pixels and other technologies may change over time.

Controlling cookies

Most browsers allow you to control cookies through their settings preferences. However, if you limit the ability of websites to set cookies, you may worsen your overall user experience, since it will no longer be personalized to you. It may also stop you from saving customized settings like login information.

What to do if you don't want cookies to be set or want them to be removed?

If you do not want to receive cookies, you can change your browser settings on your computer or other device you're using to access our services. If you use Total Media without changing your browser settings, we'll assume that you're happy to receive all cookies on the Total Media website. Most browsers also provide functionality that lets you review and erase cookies, including Total Media cookies. Please note that the Total Media site will not work properly without cookies.
